Now Seeking Part-Time Christians

Joey Davis

Our organization is presently seeking applicants for the position of “Part-Time Christian.” The only significant qualification is the absolute necessity of a lifestyle preoccupied with anything other than giving God your full devotion. If you meet this requirement, please give the following “benefits” your consideration.

1. As a part-time Christian, you will not be expected to attend every service of the church. In fact, if you will just attend the Sunday morning worship service, then you need not feel obligated to attend the Sunday evening service or the Wednesday night service.

2. As a part-time Christian, you should not attend any regular Bible classes. In the event that the local congregation schedules additional Bible studies, you should avoid them at all cost. These are just subtle attempts to get you more involved and to encourage you to grow into a full-time Christian. Presently, our organization has no use for full-time Christians.

3. As a part-time Christian, you should not study the Bible with any regularity. The Bible, when applied to the hearts of men and women, will create love and devotion to Christ and His church. Unfortunately, those who love Christ and His church are not qualified to be “part-time Christians.” If there is a remote possibility that you might begin studying your Bible, you need not apply for this position. (Continued on page 3)

Now Seeking Part-Time Christians

Joey Davis

4. As a part-time Christian, you do not have to worry about "church" conflicting with your schedule. Since you are not obligated to attend services regularly, you have the liberty to go on vacation, watch the Super Bowl, or just sleep in with no consequences. If church leaders confront you about your lack of commitment, remind them that you do not want to be a full-time Christian. They will be concerned for a while, but, eventually, they will stop bothering you.

5. As a part-time Christian, you will save loads of time and money. Full-time Christians give sacrificially to the Lord because they have determined to seek first the Kingdom of God. However, you are interested in being a "part-time" Christian; therefore, your conduct will need to reflect the fact that you really do not care about the Kingdom of God. Too, giving sacrificially will motivate you to be a "full-time" Christian and we simply do not have any room for those.

What other organization would be willing to accept you into its membership and demand so little of you? If this sounds like the type of Christian you desire to be, we would love to have you. See you soon!

Sincerely,

The Devil, Director of Human Resources
Hell

The fine print: God does have the final say and He has restricted some benefits to "full-time Christians" only. They are: forgiveness of sins, eternal life, and all spiritual blessings. There are probably more, but these are not important to those who are desirous of "part-time" positions.

NEWS OF INTEREST

We received word that Ken & Clyde Ann Willis are now proud great-grand parents and Jeff Sparks is home on leave from the Marines.
